

CONCLUSIONS

1. Present overcrowding is serious and will worsen as additional technical systems are added.
2. Ability to support additional ESE is marginal.
3. Problems must be solved either by additional leased property or by construction.
4. New construction is most desirable alternative; however, it cannot be justified without modification to OMB guidelines.
5. The Master Plan or Multiple Use Building is the most desirable option.